

FlyTunes Internet Radio for i-phone/touch

EKR – European Klassik Rock is listed with this free radio application downloadable from the Apple Store. We are catalogued in the “Classic Rock” Genre as “Euro Klassik Rock” and it has a neat display of album art for each track played.

The developers of FlyCast held nothing back when they released their music broadcasting application. Since its release to the App Store, FlyCast has generated quite a few comments, and it seems most everybody liked the app. Like most music radio apps, FlyCast allows you to change stations based on your music preference. I always prefer starting out with the top classic rock stations to see just how current their selection is! I must say FlyCast impressed me, not only because it had EKR Listed, or their music selection but because FlyCast is so easy to use.

For someone that is new to the iPhone, FlyCast makes it very easy to listen to your favorite music. The UI in FlyCast is very pleasing to the eye and is designed in such a way that makes listening to music easy and enjoyable. A great feature of FlyCast is the ability to surf the web while you are listening to music. The developers have implemented a web search icon on the top right of the screen that takes you directly to Google. Since the iPhone won't let you run numerous applications at once, this feature is incredibly handy.

FlyCast's Tuner is available for free and can be download now from the iTunes App Store. It supports playback on the iPhone and iPod Touch.
